Introductory Assessments

Educational technology is revolutionizing the way we teach and learn. The tools you choose have the power to transform educational outcomes. However, educators and administrators need to trust these tools. To provide this assurance, the EducateforLife Baseline Review (EBR) has been designed to conduct an introductory assessment, covering over 350 review points used within 70% of global industry standards. It gives a rapid, independent, and objective measure of the quality of your educational technology product.

What is the EBR assessment?

Our EBR assesses an educational technology product, such as an app or platform, against 350+ standards in three domains: pedagogical effectiveness, data security and privacy, and usability and accessibility.

After Your Assessment

- If your technology achieves a score of over 65%, you will receive a badge of quality assurance, recognized internationally.
- The opportunity to enter Educatefor.Life EdTech Impact Libraries available to educational institutions around the world.
- With a subscription, you will receive a confidential, in-depth improvement report and invitation to actively support the continued development of the product/technology.

Product Specification

- Pedagogical Effectiveness: Ensures alignment with curriculum standards, supports diverse learning styles, and demonstrates evidence of improved learning outcomes.
- Data Security and Privacy: Assesses compliance with data protection regulations, secure data storage and transmission, and clear policies on data usage and sharing.
- Usability and Accessibility: Evaluates accessibility and ease of use, engagement and interactivity, and customizability for different educational contexts.

Request An Assessment

Our EducateforLife Baseline Review (EBR) is an assessment that checks if your educational technology product meets the requirements of 350 criteria. These are questions that we answer to score your product against three main domains: pedagogical effectiveness, data security and privacy, and usability and accessibility. You need a minimum score to pass the EBR to surface on our EducateforLife EdTech Library, and other toolkits, which we develop for educational institutions to access high-quality educational technology products.

How can I assess my educational technology product against the EBR?

You can choose between a self-assessment and a Specialist Audit.
